Germany:

Complaints from small and middle-sized businessmen re I.G. Fraben. bleeding all smaller corporations under contract (in one case a very profitable business yielded only 3/2% because it was required to give 40% to Dynamit, which kicked it over to I.G.

Some anti-Jewish law not enforced because of lack of raw materials, example being law requiring them to wear emblems made of yellow cloth, because of lack of cloth.